

ABSTRACT

During a method for processing a signal (S(A)), which reproduces a physical output quantity (A), of an industrial installation (4), an output signal (S(Z)), which reproduces a derived physical target quantity (Z), is ascertained from the signal (S(A)). To this end, an automatic conversion of the unit of the output quantity (A) into a target unit (ZE) of the target quantity (Z) is carried out.